

WHO ARE YOU?

The Not-So-Secret Shopper

Helps the overall economy but offers nothing to the company's bottom line. Takes long lunch breaks, and spends the rest of the day shopping online, leaving everyone else to pick up the slack.

Tip: Save the shopping for out of work hours.

The Human Holiday Display

Wears reindeer antlers and/or a snowman sweater and transforms their desk into a blinding sea of blinking lights and tinsel.

Tip: Remember – everything in moderation.

The Party Animal

The annual office party is a WORK function, but this fact seems to elude the Party Animal. The entire company will be whispering about the Party Animal's regrettable antics by the next morning.

Tip: Drink alcohol moderately and don't pressure others who are opting to abstain.

The Grinch

Full of cynicism, smirks and sarcasm, this frosty grump says bah humbug and finds a way to criticise everything. The Grinch remains unaware that the constant griping, groaning and gossiping can be incredibly grating.

Tip: Be mindful that tact and diplomacy are critical to career advancement.